Final Efforts Being Made To Halt Railroad Tieup

Seek Agreement To Prevent Halt Of Coal Mining

Krug Confers With Lewis In Moves Aimed At Halting Strike Renewal

LEWIS FINALLY REVEALS DEMANDS

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—Federal officials worked today on the outline of a contract which the government will offer John L. Lewis to keep the nation's coal mines in operation beyond Saturday's strike truce deadline.

J. A. Krug, administrator of the government-seized mines, said he hoped that agreement could be reached within the next 48 hours on "the principles" of a new contract to prevent another work stoppage by 400,000 miners.

The coal mines boss and his deputy, Vice Admiral Ben Moreell, realistically admitted that it was "unlikely" that Lewis' United Mine Workers would stay on the job for Uncle Sam beyond Saturday "unless their union leaders urge them to."

Lewis' Attitude Unknown

The bushy-browed UMW president was not expected to do any urging until he is pretty well satisfied as to the kind of a contract the government will negotiate. Well over 100,000 miners currently are idle.

In conferences with Krug and Moreell, Lewis revealed, however, the UMW's full demands—including the wage and hour demands which were kept from the mine operators during

Everybody's Happy Now

James Ashe, left, 27, was about to pick up his 20-year-old wife, Marjorie, right, and 10-day-old baby at a Chicago hospital, when he received word his wife was missing. Rushing to the hospital he found a six-page letter from her, explaining how she had "failed him terribly" by not having a "cute baby"...Ashe took the baby home and notified police...A little later he was notified his wife had been found at the Burlington, Ia., Union station, so he chartered a plane and flew to her side. They embraced, had a good cry, and now, of course, both are agreed on the fact that "the child is the most beautiful baby in the world."

Report U. S. Giving Support To Newest India Freedom Plan

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—The United States was reported today to be supporting quietly the newest British offer of freedom for India.

After thorough study of the proposal, which would create an Indian federation, policy making officials were said to have come to the conclusion that it is the most workable formula yet to have been offered and to comply with British pledges made during the war.

Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson said last week that a cursory examination of the proposal, which had just been published, indicated that it would have the full backing of the United States. Further examination has born out this "horseback" opinion.

On the floor of the chamber desks will be provided for 270 delegates, 270 alternates and 507 advisers and members of the United Nations secretariat.

F. B. I. Probing Interference In Coal Mining

(BULLETIN)

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—(INS)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation today moved into the western Pennsylvania coal fields to investigate two cases of interference with government operation of coal mines.

Francis Y. Casey, western Pennsylvania solid fuels administrator, said the FBI was checking reports of interference at the Fenn-Salt "captive" mine at Tarentum, Pa., and Perini Mine at Listie, Pa.

The SFA director said that since government seizure all complaints of picketing and interference will be checked by the "G" men.

The Penn-Salt investigation was launched after the miners walked out following a rump meeting at which they were reported to have discussed whether or not to work under federal seizure.

At the Perini mine roving pickets were alleged to have intimidated workers. Between 35 and 40 pickets were dispersed by state police.

Secret Plans Made To Meet Rail Strike

(By International News Service)

The nationwide railroad strike, set for 4 p. m. EST, today, found the U. S. Government mobilized to meet the crisis.

Secret plans already have been drawn up for the H-hour to keep high priority freight moving.

While President Truman called union leaders to the White House for an eleventh hour conference, the situation hourly grew more tense.

If the strike goes on, Mr. Truman again was expected to appeal to railroad engineers and trainmen to stay on the job, and promise them the full protection of U. S. Army troops. Some military police units of the Army were said to be moving into position.

It was the second time in six days that unions kept the country in a state of jitters up to almost the deadline of the threatened strike. Last Saturday, the strike was called off for five days just five minutes before it was scheduled to start.

Stettinius Assails Third War Forecasts

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS)—Edward R. Stettinius Jr., U. S. delegate to the United Nations Security Council, took sharp issue today with what he termed "voices of little faith" now predicting a third world war as inevitable.

Stettinius declared the record of the last two-and-a-half years proves large and small nations can collaborate successfully for peace and security and said current international differences and disputes are "the very substance from which agreement must be forged."

He expressed his views at a dinner of the National Institute of Social Sciences at which he and Dean Virginia C. Gildersleeve of Barnard and City Park Commissioner Robert Moses received gold medals for "service to humanity."

State Primary Vote Is Decisive

Winners In Both Parties Far Ahead Of Opponents Returns Show

PARTY LEADERS PLAN FALL BATTLE

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—(INS)—Republican leaders today hailed primary election returns as a "harbinger" of victory in the general election November 5, but Democratic chieftains forecast a bitter battle for statewide offices.

The regular Republican organization turned in smashing pluralities for its slated candidates and routed attempts of a so-called "new guard" to capture party conrtol.

Attorney General James H. Duff, the party wheel horse Gov. Edward Martin chose to succeed him in office, swept the state's 8,232 precincts by a margin expected to exceed 540,000 votes.

Duff by Wide Margin

Duff, solicitor of Carnegie borough for more than 30 years, rode roughshod over the independent candidacies of former highway secretary John U. Shroyer, of Shamokin, and ex-Staff Sgt. Carl E. Mau, of Marcus Hook.

The attorney general topped Shroyer by more than four to one and Mau 20 to one.

Incomplete returns gave Duff approximately 720,000 votes and Shroyer 180,000. Mau, self-styled "GI-candidate" polled about 35,000 ballots. Shroyer appeared in unofficial returns to have carried Montour, Wayne, and Bradford counties in addition to his home county—Northumberland.

Governor Martin, who paced the organization slate to victory, defeated his opponent for the U. S.

House Begins Debate On Size Of Postwar Navy

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—The house opens debate today on the size of America's post war navy.

The issue, to be fought out on the floor, is whether the fleet shall be composed of 965 ships, as appropriated for by a house committee, or 1079 ships as advocated by the navy and already approved by the house in a resolution.

Rep. Carl Vinson (D) Ga., chairman of the house naval affairs committee, is prapared to lead the fight for a larger peace-time navy in the wake of his committee's action supporting such a move.

Reduction Made

The reduction in the navy's size was made in a series of conferences between the navy department and the budget bureau, which recommended appropriations smaller than those finally approved by the house appropriations committee.

Vinson announced that he would seek house approval for the larger navy by adding some 400 million dollars to the four billion 639 million appropriated for the navy's 1947 operating funds.

Originally, the navy requested about two billion dollars more than the sum recommended by the budget bureau. This latter figure was raised 375 million by the appropriations committee, but still falls short of the sum desired by house advocates on a strong fleet.

Biggest Mass Air Operation Success

KWAJALEIN, May 23.—(INS)—Army air force leaders congratulated themselves today upon completion of one of the biggest mass air operations in history—without the loss of a man or plane.

The air operation was part of the army's contribution to operation crossroads and brought more than 2,500 officers and men and thousands of tons of freight to Kwajalein for the atomic bomb tests.

Brig. Gen Roger Ramey, chief of tactical air forces in the tests, declared that his organization is either right on or ahead of schedule in preparations for the Bikini explosions. The general added:

"I am completely satisfied with the results of our operations to date."

Six Months Before Pearl Harbor Japan Decided Upon War

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—The Pearl Harbor committee closed its record today with evidence showing that six months before the 1942 attack Japan decided it would risk war with America in order to carry out its Far East program.

The final chapter of documentary evidence was written from memoirs of the late Prince Konoye and statements by former secretaries Hull and Stimson.

Both Tokyo and Washington, it was disclosed, concluded in October 1941 that war was inevitable.

Hull advised the committee that he was "satisfied by early October... that the time when they would attack us was rapidly approaching."

Jap Leaders For War

But it was on July 2—six months before the Jap bombs fell on Pearl Harbor and in Emperor Hirohito's presence — that Japan's leaders agreed that its southeastern expansion must go forward. The formal "outline of policy" stated in part:

"We will not be deterred by the possibility of being involved in a war with England and America."

The memoirs of Konoya—prewar premier who committed suicide several months ago—revealed that as late as Sept. 6, 1941 Emperor Hirohito leaned toward peace. Hirohito read aloud to his ministers a "poem for peace" written by the Emperor Meiji and said it was this ideal he sought.

Former War Secretary Stimson declared that it was the concensus of the late President Roosevelt's advisers that if Japan in late No-

Limit Expenses For Household Of Emperor Hirohito

TOKYO, May 23.—(INS)—General MacArthur today issued a directive restricting financial operations of Emperor Hirohito's household and ordered 14 families related to the emperor to be divested of "all special privileges" including immunity from taxation.

Persons affected by the order included Hirohito's three brothers, the Princes Cchichibu, Mikasa and Takamatsu.

A headquarters spokesman explained that the present imperial budget grants two million yen ($133,000) yearly for support of royal relatives. This money is paid out ostensibly as salaries for honorary government positions and the spokesman jointed out that Japanese commoners foot the bill.

The allied order restricts the imperial household from providing for the support of relatives and from paying household expenses of the three royal princes.

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—President Truman at 12:35 p. m. (EST) summoned representatives of the railroads to the White House for conferences after he met with the brotherhood leaders on the rail strike.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—A. F. Whitney, head of the Railway Trainmen and Alvanley Johnston, chief of the Engineers, arrived at the White House at 11:31 a. m. EST to bring President Truman their decision on his proposal for settlement of the railroad strike.

As they left their hotel for the White House Johnston said that he was uncertain what they would tell the president.

At 12:30 there still was no announcement from the White House on the conference.

Erie Murder Case To Jury By Friday

Final Summations To Jury Will Start Today, Brother And Sister On Trial

ERIE, Pa., May 23.—(INS)—The case of Mike Bubna and his pretty sister, Millie Thomas, charged with the brutal slaying of Robert Fischer, whose bullet-riddled body was found in a shallow grave on an Erie golf course, was expected to reach the jury Friday.

Rebuttal testimony highlighted today's sessions and late this afternoon District Attorney D. J. McLaughlin and Defense Attorney John Blackmore were scheduled to make their final summations to the jury. McLaughlin said he will demand the electric chair for both defendants.

The defense rested its case after Mrs. Thomas told practically the same story that her brother related from the stand on the previous day.

The shapely brunet denied that her brother killed the former Erie barkeeper and that she had cut off the victim's hair.

She did accuse Police Sgt. Willard Schauer, however, of using vile language when she could not answer his questions during the investigation of the case.

Hey, hey, the sun is out, my friend, the skies are azure blue; (that line is good most any time), and since the sun peeped through the golfer has regained his poise, the farmer wears a grin, and in my neighbor's garden they are putting lettuce in. So let it come, the sun and warmth, with cool days let's be done; it's time for summer sports, m'lad, the weather's eighty-one.

Food Campaign Below Set Goal

Collections Total 5,500 Tins Of Food As Of Wednesday Evening Inventory

Unless a great spurt materializes within the next two weeks, Lawrence County will fall far short of its goal in the Emergency Food Collection to aid the starving of the world.

Austin A. Webb, general chairman of the effort in the county, announced today that as of the Wednesday evening inventory, some 5,500 tins of food have been donated to drive.

Broken down this showns that 2,000 of the cans were vegetables, 1,000 soups, 2,000 milk and 500 baby foods. Other miscellaneous contributions, such as peanut butter, honey and fish, add some to the total, and also the collections which have reached the campaign headquarters today.

Now that the collection bins have been placed about the city in most of the grocery stores, the drive officials feel that the total should increase steadily. Don't forget to place your donation in one of the receptacles while you are on your shipping tour.

No report of the financial total is available as yet but Richard Rentz, fund chairman of the drive, wishes to remind the public that cash contributions to the drive are as important as tins of food. Mail your checks to Emergency Food Collection, care of Mr. Rentz, The News company, North Mercer street.

senatorial nomination, by a margin of roughtly 10 to one. He polled more than 840,000 votes to 88,000 for Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan, Pittsburgh housewife.

Democratic Slate Rubber Stamped

The Democratic statewide slate, unopposed except for token opposition to the leaders' choice for governor, was rubber-stamped by voters without trouble.

Col. John S. Rice, of Gettysburg, endorsed for governor by the Democratic state committee, won more than a quarter-million votes and ran up a margin of better than 15 to 1 over his opponent, Henry A. Morris, Mahanoy City piano tuner.

Other statewide candidates on both slates reflected the majorities turned in by organization workers at Tuesday's primary election.

By capturing the GOP senatorial nomination, Governor Martin was assured of leading his party's campaign to oust U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, from a post he has held since 1935.

Guffey spearheaded his ticket to victory in the primary and will seek a third term in the general election.

Also certain of places on the Republican general election ballot were Brig. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, of Lancaster, candidate for lieutenant governor, and incumbent Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livengood, Jr., of Somerset, nominated for a third term.

Democrats also nominated Senate Majority Leader John H. Dent, of Jeannette, for lieutenant governor, and Al Schmid, blind Philadelphia marine hero, for internal affairs secretary.

The organization voting results were reflected, with few exceptions, in contests involving Congress, the state House and Senate and state committee.

Krug said Lewis gave no indication as to whether the truce would be extended beyond Saturday's midnight deadline.

Ferguson addressed 237 questions to Stimson, 169 to Hull.

Konoye's memoirs were turned over to the U. S. strategic bombing survey by the ex-premier after Japan's surrender.

The Japanese government apparently did not know of its military leaders' detailed plan for a Pearl Harbor attack, begun in January 1941 and completed in September. Konoye's memoirs stressed the "anguish" suffered by Jap cabinets because the supreme command operated independently.

Young Woman Held After Suspicious Actions At Hotel

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—(INS)—A 22-year-old girl—accused of acting suspiciously on a Bellevue-Stratford hotel fire escape—was held for morals court today by Magistrate Elias Myers.

She was identified by police as Adelaide Marilla, of 2131 Moore street, Philadelphia.

Police and hotel officials differed in their versions of Miss Marilla's action.

In magistrate's court, two patrolmen said the girl applied for a job at the hotel—and then went to a 19th floor fire escape.

She apparently "lost her nerve" the police said, and went to the hotel kitchen in the basement, where she was taken into custody.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Russia And Food

For their own sake as well as for the sake of hungry human beings everywhere, it is to be hoped that the Russians will reconsider their reported refusal to work with the United States and Britain in solving the world food problem. They cannot afford to appear unresponsive to mankind's need in this time of crisis.

The reason given for Premier Stalin's decision to reject President Truman's appeal for cooperation is that the plea came too late because commitments already made prevented fulfillment of the American request. A Moscow radio broadcast declared that Russian wheat to a total of 1,100,000 tons had been allocated for shipment abroad and that Soviet resources are limited. Russia takes the cold attitude that she has done her part.

But even if that were true, the position taken by the Kremlin is almost certain to be misunderstood. At a time like this every nation—not the United States alone—is morally bound to cooperate with all others to find the answers.

It is significant that the joint British-American declaration calls for "even more energetic measures throughout the world." At the same time it was announced that Britain would reduce her wheat requirements 200,000 tons between now and September and that the United States has agreed to standard rations in the British and American zones in Germany.

The Russians had no part in either the statement or the measures taken. Their aloofness is costing them heavily in the world's esteem.

Sauce For The Goslings

It was inevitable that boys of school age should revolt against current feminine styles, and, that being true, a story from Decatur, Indiana, is not particularly surprising. It seems that more than 100 of the boys; weary of seeing the traditional garments of their sex being worn by girls, paraded the streets while wearing dresses. The only disturbing note in this masculine demonstration is the announcement that school authorities whipped two of the boys who were said to have gone to extremes.

Apparently the gad can still be applied in Hoosier schools when a teacher thinks it will accomplish beneficial results, whatever one may think of its use in this instance.

Girls of school age in Indiana, and elsewhere throughout the nation, are devoted at the moment to blue jeans pants and shirts with the tails outside. They roll up their trouser legs as if they were traversing muddy fields, and flop along in flat-soled shoes that pediatrists say will make their feet twice as large by the time they reach mature age.

Legally, there is no restraint upon this type of attire. Economically, it may have some bearing on existing conditions, since farmers and others who need overalls and work shirts complain that the available supply is being bought quickly by maidens who want to look queer. For the boys of Decatur to attire themselves in girlish garb does not presage the beginning of another trend.

It was purely a protest to be classed as sauce for the goslings. The community now is back to normal and the girls, as they have done since time immemorial, are continuing to wear whatever suits their fancy.

'The Gentleman From Indiana'

The death of Booth Tarkington has thousands of Americans busy recalling the pleasures they derived from the scores of books which came from the pen of the Hoosier novelist.

There were the Penrod series which ably carried on the record of boyhood from where Mark Twain left off. There was "Alice Adams" and the pitiful plight of an ambitious young girl, and then, too, there was "The Magnificent Ambersons" and the troubles of a family.

But of all of them, the first Tarkington novel, "The Gentleman from Indiana" has the best chance of surviving as a period piece in American literature because it delineates the ideals which were paramount in this country a generation ago.

They were simple ideas, but important, nevertheless. The young newspaperman who fought for them will be remembered. He broke up a gang and thus won a victory for democracy. He hammered at crookedness and achieved the noble reward of being elected to Congress.

He was an honest and decent fellow and the book which told about him created a sensation when it first appeared back in those comfortable years before America was caught in the whirlwinds of global troubles and robbed of its complacency.

The forces, with which the Tarkington hero struggled, appear picayune in comparison with those forces which now occupy our attention in the Atomic Age. However, they are still around and continue to invite as much attention as Mr. Tarkington gave them.

But we can't help thinking whether such a book, produced in America now, would even find a publisher. There is not an indecent page in the whole volume. There is no psychopathic problem with which the reader can wrestle. There are no bedroom scenes, or profane words, or compromises or infidelities to interest a box-office conscious Hollywood producer.

"The Gentleman from Indiana" was just a clean story of virtue triumphant. That it would have little chance in the America of 1946 is an indication of how much we've lost and how far we've slipped because we've become so sophisticated.—McKeesport News.

School Of The Army

The War department has announced a far-reaching reorganization of its education system that will keep an officer studying as he rises in rank. He will be in the classroom much of his first twenty years of active duty, with periods of practical field experience.

This decision is important enough in the light of the necessity of the nation's future military leaders keeping abreast of developments of an entirely new era of push-button defense and offense. Even more significant is the announcement that instruction in the highest category will be on a joint Army, Navy and Air basis.

At "top level" the War college will be the highest educational institution of the Army, Navy and State department. No longer will it be merely the Army War college; it will be the National War college, and along with it will be set up an industrial college of the armed forces.

This is a far-seeing revision which recognizes not only the importance of scientific knowledge in warfare but also the necessity for practical cooperation among the services.

Some folks call John L. Lewis a dictator. Maybe he is, but we can't forget that New Deal congressmen made him that way.

WASHINGTON CALLING
by MARQUIS CHILDS

Labor Secretary Is On Tough Spot

WASHINGTON, May 23—Remember way back when we had a woman as sceretary of labor? Many people liked to say that, if only Miss Frances Perkins was kicked out and a big strong man put in her place, we should have no more labor troubles.

John L. Lewis was one who used to say that. Perhaps he had in mind a big strong man named John L. Lewis.

Well, we have a man as secretary of labor today and we are having more strike trouble than at almost any other time in our history. It is unfair to put the blame on Secretary Lewis B. Schwellenbach, as it was to put it on Miss Perkins.

The causes of conflict go very deep. They are beyond any "strong man" solution. Moreover, there is no adequate framework of law within which orderly and disciplined collective bargaining can be carried out.

Not "Strong" Secretary

Schwellenbach can scarcely be rated a "strong" secretary of labor. Too often he seems overwhelmed by the sea of trouble that confronts him. With profit he could be less vague and more decisive.

In his brief tenure of office, the secretary has had difficulty keeping his lines of authority straightened out. Schwellenbach's plans have been upset by the interference of others in the Truman administration. As public pressure has mounted, top-level policy makers have all taken a hand in cooking the labor broth. The result is in accord with the old saying about too many cooks.

Meddlesome interference has come from eager beavers in unexpected places. The testimony of Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small advocating a no-strike ban for six months came as a shock and surprise both to President Truman and Secretary Schwellenbach.

Startling Announcement

Small, more or less an accident in his current job, which grew out of his association with J. A. Krug when the present secretary of the interior was head of the War Production Board, read his testimony to members of his staff before going to the capitol with it. They were startled. In its original form, it contained an angry denunciation of John L. Lewis. Small was persuaded to delete that section.

It is not merely the official kibitzers who keep looking over Secretary Schwellenbach's shoulder. He has a whole host of unofficial advisers, including columnists and editorial writers, who can tell him exactly how to end the labor trouble. All he has to do is to take their advice.

When Miss Perkins thinks of her successor in office, it is with compassion on this very score. She has an interesting theory about the climate in which labor disputes occur today. The very fact of the concentration of public interest, with tempers at the boiling point, makes a strike more difficult to settle.

Hard Task

It's like trying to discipline a child with company looking on. Advice from aunts and uncles and in-laws makes the disciplining process all but impossible. Perhaps the best service that the press and public could perform in a labor dispute would be to ignore it completely in the critical stage.

A major difficulty is the fact that, ever since 1933, our labor troubles have been occurring in an atmosphere of crisis. In the early '30s, it was a crisis of depression and unemployment. Then came preparation for war, and then war itself. Now the crisis is reconversion and the threat of inflation inherent in shutting down production.

Although Miss Perkins herself has become a columnist, she is being very careful not to contribute in any way to the agitation over current strikes. The former secretary of labor writes a weekly column which is distributed to some 600 labor papers throughout the country by the Institute for American Democracy, Inc. She is paid to write the column. Not all the papers use it every week, Miss Perkins says, but the average is around 400.

When she first started to write, she made it very clear that she would not discuss current labor disputes. Her column deals customarily with matters indirectly related to trade unions. She has written several times on the full-employment bill. Her last articles dealt with price control. The detached, almost scientific intellect that characterized her twelve years in the Labor Department is evident in the care and precision of her writing.

In fairness to Miss Perkins and to her sex, let's recognize that she had an almost hopeless job. And so, given present circumstances, has her successor.

TITLES

Wonder if the good Lord cares
Who the champion's title wears;
Who the fastest mile can run,
Who the surest fire a gun?
Finished with the work of men
Will these greatly matter then?

What of us whose toil is plain,
And unnoticed here remain?
Will it matter that we failed
As a champion to be hailed?
Will God's blessings only fall
To the greatest of us all?

Did the Master say aright:
Greater was the widow's mite
Than the gifts the rich bestowed
By the greater love it showed?
Done with earth, the humblest then
God may welcome home again.

SOAP AND SICKNESS

Sometimes in dealing with our health problems we make a big fuss about scientific things or technical procedures or high brow stuff and forget about common every day things.

Civilization took a big step forward when soap came into general use. It was only a comparatively short time ago too.

If we would use plenty of soap and wash our hands frequently, it would help a lot.

The hands are to blame for a lot of sickness. They carry disease germs from one person to another.

Keeping the hands away from the nose and mouth helps some. Good hotels and restaurants use lots of soap.

A good housekeeper uses plenty of soap but Tommy doesn't like it around his ears.

Two Views On Russia Presented

WASHINGTON, May 23.

NEITHER the report of Secretary of State Byrnes nor the speeches of Senators Vandenberg and Connally upon the so-called peace conference at Paris, from which they all have recently returned with, despite official optimism, rather a conspicuous failure, alter the basic fact (now much too plain to dispute) that the great obstacle to effective international co-operation and future world tranquillity is Russia. On the contrary, they make it clearer.

THERE seems no sense in mincing words about this. Efforts to make it appear that, with equally deplorable aggressive and imperialistic purposes, the British and the Russians are engaged in a fierce struggle for power and we are caught in the middle, serves to confuse but is not founded on fact. Because the British are doing nothing of the kind. The real struggle, as seen by our representatives in best position to know the truth, is between Russia and the United States, the one primarily determined to extend her authority and increase her strength; the other, with no aggressive idea of aggrandizement, primarily concerned in reconstruction and peace. Perhaps we are saps, but no one who has talked with these men can doubt that they are convinced of this fact. And in this struggle the British are with us.

BACK of all the speeches and reports, that is the way those who are best informed feel. They can get help in trying to make international co-operation work from everybody except the Russians. They can not get co-operation from Russia on anything except on her terms. Russia, as Mr. Hoover recently made plain, is not even co-operating on food. On the contrary, she moved 1,500,000 desperately need tons of food out of Manchuria and into Siberia, where it is not needed, and can neither be used nor transported. Thus, they are responsible in no small degree for the threatened starvation in Asia. But for Russia, the United Nations machine would be really working smoothly. But for Russia, the peace treaties could be speedily negotiated. But for Russia, a start on world disarmament could be made.

THERE is no doubt that this is the way most observers and participants in these international conferences see the situation. And there is no doubt that in nearly every foreign office in the world the specter of Russian aggression is hid in the closet. Now that he is home, Mr. Byrnes is sure to find that the popular disposition to accept Russia as the regular recalcitrant, the clog on the wheel, the pull-back nation—has greatly increased. It would be strange indeed if it had not. None-the-less, though there is little dispute as to the facts, the two schools of thought concerning our policy toward Russia remain.

ONE believes that loving kindness and sympathetic understanding toward the Russians is the answer. We must recognize, it is contended, that they are as eager for peace as we and are merely trying to insure their own safety, which, when their history is considered is only natural. Further, that they so long have been the victims of suspicion that it is to be expected they should be suspicious themselves; that, actually, they are friendly, simple people who want only a little encouragement and trust to demonstrate their basic nobility and sweetness; that we ought to give them what they want—particularly, the atomic bomb secrets. That is the school most conspicuously represented by Senator Claude Pepper and it reflects also the thought of the Communist Daily Worker and near Communist press in New York.

THE other school holds the view that truculence should be the note of our policy toward Russia; that we should be truculent even when we do her favors such as lending her money; that we should be truculent at all times with Russia; that she does not understand anything else, and anything else she at once interprets as weakness, moves quickly to take advantage. Mostly these Russian leaders are ruthless men, with no standard of moral ethics, addicted to the crude methods of Chicago gunmen.

YOU cannot, this school argues, trust men who consistently practice deceit and secrecy even in trivial things and who do not live up to their bargains. Their co-operation in the United Nations is, of course, highly desirable but not at the price they want to exact. Also, yielding is not the way to get more co-operation. It is the way to get less. Between these two schools is Mr. Byrnes with his policy of "firmness and patience." It is interesting to note that, despite his lack of success at Paris, there seems at the moment a greater degree of approval in Congress and in the country of Mr. Byrnes and his policy than before. A majority in both seems strongly of the opinion that, under the circumstances, no one could have done better. And there is little public tolerance of the attempt to depict him as a small man, blind to the larger issues of world affairs who, unhappily, has been concentrating upon the unimportant and irrelevant.

LOOKING AT LIFE
By ERICH BRANDEIS

I had just read as far as page 346 of a most interesting book entitled "It Happened in 1945", when the heading of the next chapter struck me.

"Footnotes to Headlines" it said, and here is the opening paragraph:

"Big headlines do not tell the history of a year. In his progress, man is moved as much or more by little happenings as by big events. He can live through five years of war calmly and drop dead from excitement over a prizefight."

Up to this chapter the book dealt with the tremendous historic events of the year. In text and pictures it showed such happenings as Roosevelt's death, the conquest of Germany, the surrender of Japan.

But here, in this new chapter, it talked about nylon lines and the meat shortage and the black markets.

It talked about a police court squabble between the Goldbergs and the Kellys, about a man complaining because the seals in the Central Park Zoo barked too loudly, about Shirley Temple's marriage, and about the first set of quintuplets ever recorded by the Bureau of the Census being born to a Negro lady in Washington.

It told abbout five top-honors in the 4-H canning and cooking competition at the Multnomah County Fair in Oregon going to a boy, Bill Gavin, and about Paul Apostlopanagiotopoulos asking the Court in St. Paul, Minn., for permission to shorten his name to Panagiotopoulos.

While Clark Kinnaird, the editor of this book, gives only fifteen of its 464 pages to these little footnotes, I am glad that he emphasized their importance in his introduction to the chapter.

A footnote in the pages of history may well be the main event in the individual's life, and to little Bill Gavin of Oregon his 4-H award is just as important as the highest decoration to General Eisenhower.

When you come right down to it, what does any event mean except as it applies to your own life?

Even to a man who was as outstanding a world figure as Franklin D. Roosevelt, nothing matters any longer today, as he sleeps in his flower-covered grave at Hyde Park in the same little plot of ground where he played when he was a kid.

We cannot all be great or help to shape the fate of the world.

But every one of us can do his share in making the little things that happen in his life milestones in whatever orbit fate has laid out for him to travel.

Your whole life may just be one of the footnotes to the headlines—but you can see to it that even the footnotes are worth recording and worth reading.

The Parent Problem
By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

So many young men returning from the armed forces are entering college that some of the larger colleges and universities have already closed registration for next September, to all but G. I. students. Some other colleges and universities of great prestige are admitting for next fall only non-service men and women who have rated near the top in high school.

This means that a large proportion of students about to graduate from high school have only the smaller and less-known colleges open to them. Many of these institutions are, of course, excellent. Anyway, they offer the advantage of having a relatively small number of students and usually have smaller classes than the larger institution and, therefore permit of closer student-teacher contact.

Larger Institutes

While the larger institution can usually offer a wider range of courses, especially of technical ones, and may have more professors of scholarly distinction than most of the smaller places, it should be remembered that in the crowded, larger institution most students may not sit at the feet of men with big names but have, instead, the lesser lights as teachers.

Young people wishing to enter one of the smaller colleges will want to know if it is an "accredited college", in case they wish to work toward a degree. This information every high school principal should have. No matter what kind of institution of higher learning a person desires to enter, he should first acquaint himself with the standing of the school from reliable sources and not depend on mere catalogues, advertising materials or any high-pressure salesmanship. This holds especially true for any one wishing to pursue a correspondence course. There are, unfortunately, some sinister rackets in this education business.

Need to Work Hard

As never before, every student entering a college of high standing next fall will have to work hard and get down to serious business if he is to remain long in that college. Properly, the loafers and laggards will soon be weeded out to give place to the more deserving students on the waiting list. Even the G. I. students can hardly get by without "delivering the goods".

From all information I can gather, former servicemen in college are, as a group, doing very well, even better than the average student. A few, however, are finding work at books very difficult and a small number are giving up, as we might expect. Some of those who give up and find a job may return to college later or enter night school while they work, still taking advantage of the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Let us hope that parents and other close relatives of the G. I. student will, when possible, give him necessary financial assistance and moral support to keep him striving.

The State Police Say:

Traffic signals are installed not only to control vehicles, but to regulate pedestrian movements. Accident reports indicate that it is almost four times as dangerous to cross an intersection against a signal than in obedience to it. When a walker attempts to move against a red light, he is taking an unnecessary chance, as the approaching motorist expects to find his path clear. When he crosses on a green light, he must also look out for vehicles making turns.

The World and the Mud Puddles

RUSSIA AND KOREA

It is characteristic of Russian policies that oojections are offered by the Soviet representatives to publicity in connection with the conference of Americans and Russians on Korea. Just what could justify secrecy, or what could suffer from publicity, in the affairs of Korea, is a question mark to the ordinary American. Certainly the United States has nothing to conceal about its purposes in Korea. The one thing we want is that a people so courageously devoted to the idea of independence and self-government should be given every opportunity to carry on in their own way, without impediment or interruption from the outside. We have in the United States many Koreans who are exemplary citizens, adapting themselves naturally to our ideals and standards. Our sympathies naturally are with them and we hope for their realization of a Korean Republic.

Thus far the only ominous symptom against this denoument is the insistence of the Russians on secrecy in connection with the joint administration of the country. The natural assumption must be that secrecy is necessary to hide disagreeable facts. We certainly can take it for granted that the representatives of the United States have nothing to conceal, so far as Korea is concerned.

WEDDING DETAILS

"Please straighten me out on the following: What is a junior bridesmaid? How old should she be? How should she be dressed? May the bride and groom stand in the church vestibule to receive the good wishes of friends? Who pays the organist and soloist's fees and when are these presented? If the organist or soloist or both are friends of the bride, should a fee be offered or a gift instead?"

Answer: A junior bridesmaid is a young girl attendant too old to be a flowergirl and too young to be a bridesmaid. She usually ranges in age from about nine to fifteen years. She, of course, cannot wear clothes matching those of the regular bridesmaids which would make her look like a little girl playing "dress ups." She might wear a variation of their clothes of a color matching or harmonizing with theirs.

Usually the bride and groom go immediately from the church to their waiting automobile. When only the families are invited to the reception, friends and other relatives being invited to the ceremony only, the bride and groom should wait in the rear of the church to receive the good wishes and congratulations of all those who will not have an opportunity later to see them.

If the organist or the soloist is a professional hired especially for the occasion, the check might be presented when the arrangement is made with her or him or at the rehearsal before the wedding.

If the musician is a close friend (even if he or she is a professional) singing not for a fee but for friendship alone, a personal gift and a corsage (to a woman) are presented rather than a check.

The gift is similar to those given to the bridesmaids. In the case of a man, it is similar to those given to the ushers.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

REVENUE STABILIZERS

The idea that a local government should set up reserves on income, so that the fat years may help feed the lean, has been gaining great headway in recent years. New York State now introduces a new kink. It will build reserves in sources of revenue which it has been sharing with local governments.

Until recently there has been in effect a system of locally shared state collected taxes, but the local governments found that about the only thing they could count upon was that the State would collect less money just when they were in greatest need of cash.

The new system will pool the proceeds of taxes shared with local governments, and will give local governments payments based on their populations—$6.75 per capita, for example, in cities.

Then, with the expectation that this will not drain the pool dry in good years, surpluses will be allowed to accumulate for bad years. It sounds like a sensible scheme, putting a solid base under municipal expectations.

Another shock absorber against local depression helplessness is an increase from 40 to 80 per cent in the State's share of relief costs. In this respect, Pennsylvania, with the State's share 100 per cent, still seems ahead.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Vacancies Exist In Army Recruiting Force In Local Area

Musicians Are Particularly Desired, Lieutenant Wade Of Local Recruiting Office Announces

There are now vacancies in the Army recruiting service within the Third Service Command that may be of interest to young men being graduated from high school and young men who have had experience in radio and music.

The 371st Recruiting band of the Third Service Command, Baltimore, Md., needs one radio announcer, one radio script writer, and producer; and one commercial artist (not a fine artist) able to do lettering and must understand lay-out and the proportioning of photographs and other materials to fit specific size. Also for the 371st Recruiting band are needed two clarinet players, one saxophone player (alto); one saxophone player (tenor), and two tuba players (one to double string bass). Any persons who might be interested in assignments mentioned above, if they join the Army, will be stationed at Ft. George G. Meade, Md.

The 371st Band is used solely as a recruiting band and is considered a choice assignment. A need for radio technicians is urgent and probably will be filled within a short time. An audition will be necessary prior to enlistment and assignment. Contact your local Army recruiting station in the Post Office building for instructions about auditioning for these assignments.

Italian Freedom Pending Signing Of Treaty Asked

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—Rep. Vito Marcantonio (AL) N. Y., presented a plea to President Truman Wednesday to grant interim independence to Italy pending signing of a peace treaty.

Marcantonio asked that the president back a move to obtain immediate withdrawal of all Allied occupation troops from Italy, especially, he said, Polish troops.

The congressman excepted, however, withdrawal of troops from the presently disputed Balkan areas.

He told reporters as he left the White House he had asked the president for complete restoration of Italian sovereignty.

Likewise, Marcantonio said he appealed to President Truman for assurances that Italy would retain the City of Trieste.

Marcantonio also said that it was his belief that the Italian people should not have to pay any war reparations. He contended that they suffered enough in the war and lost 200,000 partisans in fighting against the Germans.

Federal Reserve Chairman Favors Loan To Britain

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board Wednesday urged congressional approval of the British loan as a "blood transfusion" to help that nation regain its international economic health.

Testifying in favor of the three billion 750 million dollar loan before the house banking and currency committee, Eccles painted a dark picture of world conditions in the event the loan is not granted. He told the committee:

"If the war-shattered world is not restored to a tolerable degree of economic health, our ideals of peace and democracy cannot survive . . .

"Without economic or political stability, we can expect only a continued drift of world affairs toward the catastrophe of a third world war."

Coal Cars Drop Through Bridge At New Galilee

NEW GALILEE, Pa., May 23.—(INS)—Three loaded railroad cars crashed through a New Galilee bridge Wednesday and dumped 210 tons of precious coal into the Little Beaver river.

Railroad officials said no one was hurt.

What Endocreme can do to bless you with a younger looking face

Think of the added beauty a more youthful face and throat can give! Then harken to this: Scientific research has proved that ENDOCREME can, for most women, contribute to this desirable result in a way formerly thought impossible. Many thousands are now finding that ENDOCREME actually helps to improve the skin itself, not just its transient, superficial "look." This is because ENDOCREME, alone, possesses ACTIVOL This ACTIVOL is a scientific replacement for woman's own natural skin-vitalizing substance. Absorbed by the skin, it helps to restore the normal growth of cells and tissues. It thus aids the skin to become fresher, smoother, more alluringly "alive." What bigger value can any woman young or old ask for her cosmetic dollars? The great majority get big improvement in only 30 days.

NOT AWARE OF KIDNAP PLOT

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt, heir to a $20,000,000 share in the Vanderbilt railroad fortune, said today that he was not aware of any "plot" to kidnap him.

Vanderbilt denied that he had a special police guard or that Pinkerton detectives were "protecting" him.

A report that a mob of gangsters were prepared to "snatch" Vanderbilt, owner of the famous Sagamore Farms racing stable, was said to have been given police by a former convict. The ex-convict is said to have learned of the kidnap plot while serving a sentence in Dannemora, New York's "toughest" prison.

Vanderbilt recently was married to Jeanne Murray, daughter of John Francis Murray, former pot of New York authority commissioner. During the war he served in the navy and was discharged a liteutenant.

Film Shows What Happens To Power Company In Storm

Splendid Film Enjoyed By Kiwanis Club At Noon Luncheon Meeting In The Castleton

What happens around a big power plant, serving a municipality, when a heavy summer storm occurs, was depicted in a film to members of the Kiwanis club at their noon luncheon meeting Wednesday in The Castleton.

The film was shown by Clarence M. England of the Pennsylvania Power company, and was accompanied by a talk by Rotarian Tom Paden, who told of the tremendous demands for power which are now being made upon the Pennsylvania Power company, and of how the local concern is trying to meet this demand, but is still hampered by lack of materials due to the heavy demands during the war.

The picture was entitled "Summer Storm" and showed how the power companies keep in touch with the weather conditions, being prepared to increase the flow of power when a storm suddenly darkens the community and creates a sudden demand for more current.

Shenango Cast To Give Operetta

School Will Present "In Arcady" At Shenango High Friday Evening

Jean McConahy

Dolores Bruno

Carl Granato

Anthony Sorbo

Closing the year with an evening of music, approximately 50 students of Shenango Township high school are taking part in an operetta, "In Arcady", which will be presented on the school stage Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock.

Rural Operetta

Action of the story, which involves much solo and chorus work along with the dialogue, takes place on a farm belonging to a Mr. Woodbine, who decides to farm scientifically. Mr. Riggs, a college-trained man who is running the farm, falls in love with Prudence Brier, the village gossip, while a young student, Jack, is led astray from his search for a sweet country girl and falls in love with Mr. Woodbine's sophisticated city daughter, Virginia. Discovery of the fact that Jack is really a wealthy man himself adds even more to the happy ending of the musical play.

Beverly Kelly

Complicating the plot even more, a young chemist named Peter falls in love with a telephone operator, and at the same time carries on his research on the development of a new fertilizer. Riggs gets most of the credit throughout the play for Peter's work, but the fertilizer is discovered at last, and the operetta ends with a rousing chorus of happiness.

Have Leading Roles

Dolores Bruno and Carl Granato sing the leading roles of Virginia and her mysterious sweetheart in the performance, while Jean McConahy and Anthony Sorbo sing the roles of Prudence, the postmistress, and Riggs, the scientific farmer.

Jack Badger is the young chemist, with Beverly Kelly as his girl friend, the telephone operator, and Wesley Fombelle takes the part of the pompous James Woodbine. Alice Brown is the ballerina who does the only dance in the operetta.

Others in the cast are:

Thermon Miller, Vincent Bruno, Bill Keller, Mary Lou Burgin, Mary Lou Donely, Dolly Montgomery, Dolly Glasser, Carole McCowin, Winifred Currie, Ruth Tanner, Dolores Stelter, Edna Jean Alford, Elizabeth Galmarini, Nancy Watson, Louis Maricone, Nancy Stroia, Barbara Shaffer, Mary Orlando, Helen Stoltzo, Magdalene Zurasky, Charlette Young, Mildred McConahy, Berdena Anderson, Beverly Nelson, Charles Dees, Charles McCandless, George Fullwood, Bob Letera, Frank Bober, Stanley Watkins, Harriet Walker, Gertrude Moore, Mary Lou Eakin, James Hill, James Johnston, Lloyd Fombelle, Walter Zurasky, Ralph Boble, Dick Pellini, William Franciscone, and Alan Sweet.

Mrs. Betty Johns is the dramatics coach, and Miss Leola Rowe, is directing the solos and mixed choruses. Miss Ann Patton is the accompanist, with Paul Malinchak in charge of the scenery designs and art work. Other committees are: Stage, Mrs. Edwin Beatty; makeup, Florence Adamczyk; ushers, freshmen; spotlight and programs, Suzanne Bessell and Mildred Hay.

It is not definitely known just what coloring matter has the greatest strength. However, it has been demonstrated that a single grain of indigo will color a ton of water.

New Wilmington Psychiatrist Is Subject Of Story

'Medical Women's Journal' Carries Article About Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry

NEW WILMINGTON, May 23.—Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry, director of the Overlook sanitarium, New Wilmington, is the subject of an article printed in a recent issue of Medical Women's Journal.

The article reviews Dr. McLaughry's busy life and carried an article written by Dr. McLaughry entitled "Reflections of a Psychiatrist".

Of honors received from college the article reads: "In 1937 Dr. McLaughry was honored by her alma mater, Westminster college. As a 50-year graduate of that institution she was awarded a degree of Doctor of Science for her pioneer work in nervous diseases.

"The next year she became a diplomate of the American Association of Psychiatry for the same reason. In 1944 the Women's Medical college of Pennsylvania awarded her a gold medal for being a 50-year graduate. Her state medical society gave her a citation and considerable publicity for her outstanding work during her 50 years of the practice of medicine."

WATER MAIN BREAKS

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—(INS)—Hundreds of West Philadelphia residents were without water this morning as the result of a water main break on Walnut St., between 45th and 46th Streets.

Water seeped from more than a score of cracks in the pavements—often shooting as high as three feet in the air. And at the same time, a gas leak developed at an apartment house at 4514-4516 Walnut St.

About 75 per cent of all anthracite mined is used for home heating.

Girl Scout Troop Aids Cancer Drive

Girls of scout troop No. 25 presented to Judge John G. Lamoree, chairman of the local cancer drive, $50 for the cancer fund during their court of awards which was held at the First U. P. church last night.

During the past year the girls of this troop decided for their community project they would aid in the fight against cancer and by selling greeting cards they were able to raise the $50. The contribution was presented to Judge Lamoree by Barbara White who sold the largest number of cards. The judge in accepting praised the girls for their gift to the cancer drive and stressed that the spirit shown by the girls in their acceptance of their responsibility in this fight forecast the good citizens and the asset to the community these girls will be in future years.

The entire program for the evening was planned and carried out by the girls in the troop. An hour of fun was enjoyed by all, following which colors were presented and badges awarded to the following girls by Mrs. J. B. Hurst, Girl Scout Council member, for their year's work: Gale Anderson, Barbara Baatz, Susan Blau, Betty Ann Cannon, Sandra Graham, Anna Langan, Katherine Soeder, Barbara White, Sherry Plonka, Mary Ida Aley, Joan Book, Betty Burchett, Nancy Burkholder, Marilyn Cannon, Barbara Cartwright, Jean Cooper, Loretta Corbett, Sally Culbertson, Marjorie Delancy, Joyce Kennedy, Dawna Houston, Nancy Lewis, Doris Mittler, Rose Pagley, Jane Popp, Kathryn Sherer, Janet Sturdevant and Alice Widney.

Refreshments were prepared by the troop committee, Mrs. Joseph Mittler chairman, Mrs. Ralph Cooper, Mrs. Ted Lewis, Mrs. Mout Baue and Mrs. Robert Sherer.

When powder puffs become too old to be washed and used for their original purpose, try using one instead of a cloth to polish silver.

Baby Of English War Bride Sixth Sickness Victim

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—(INS)—Tiny Vivian Smith, five-and-one-half-month-old daughter of an English war bride, today was the sixth baby to die from the mysterious infection contacted aboard the bride ships S. S. Brazil and S. S. Zebulon Vance.

The infant died before her father, Howard, of Burbank, Cal., could be located.

Smith had never seen the child.

Mrs. Smith does not yet know her baby has died. She collapsed yesterday and sobbed bitterly:

"I know my baby is going to die. I'd give my life it I knew it would make her well."

West Penn hospital authorities attributed the child's death to an "infectious type of diarrhea". The death was the first reported among passengers on the bride ship Brazil. Three babies died during the crossing on the Zebulon, one in New York yesterday and one in Paris Ill., last night.

Officers of the Third Service Command in Pittsburgh informed West Penn hospital officials that they would "take over!" the Smith child's body.

Vivian and her mother with Mrs. Bertha Herker, of Wasea, Minn., and her son, Jacques, were taken off a west-bound train early Wednesday morning when the children became seriously ill.

Mrs. Herker's baby was reported slightly improved in St. Francis hospital.

More Mines Shutdown Throughout Nation

PITSBURGHT, May 23.—(INS)—Virtually all of the 100,000 UMW miners in the bituminous pits in Pennsylvania were out on strike today, grimly awaiting a move either by John L. Lewis or President Truman against their "no contract, no work" stand.

Production loss was estimated at more than 250,000 tons daily.

Coal operators, alarmed by the restlessness displayed by the miners, were preparing for a complete shutdown on the industry following Lewis' announcement that "it's up to the miners themselves if they want to go back to work"

In Pennsylvania only 400 of the state's 2,039 mines were operating—most of them strip mines. New shutdowns reported were Illinois, 75; Indiana, 50; Alabama, 41; West Virginia, five; Ohio, five.

Picketing of mines has ceased, being declared illegal under federal seizure, but the rank-and-file members stayed away from work in increasing numbers throughout the nation.

War Brides Say Lack Of Sanitation Caused Odd Malady

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS)—Two French war brides today blamed inadequate hygiene for the mysterious outbreak of illness which killed five babies and affected at least 20 others aboard the brideship Zebulon Vance.

Mrs. Joannine Battenfield, 20, wife of Dr. John H. Battenfield, of Norman, Okla., whose six-months-old daughter, Myriam, was stricken early in the voyage, said the babies' nipples and bottles were handled aboard ship without regard to ordinary sanitary rules.

Mrs. Josee Alberti, Belgian bride of John Alberti, of Portland, Me., said she and her stricken son, Anthony, two months old, bunked in a cabin containing 18 other mothers and 10 babies. She complained that her baby received no medical examination during the voyage.

The shipboard epidemic is unofficially ascribed to summer diahrhea. Federal and city health department probes are now under way.

During a storm in Natal, South Africa, in 1874, hailstones fell which weighed a pound and a half. They passed through a corrugated iron roof as if it had been made of paper. Hailstones 14 inches in circumference fell in New South Wales Australia, in 1847.

APARTMENT HOUSE WILL BE ADDED TO CARNEGIE CAMPUS

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—(INS)—Carnegie Tech authorities today had approval of their board of trustees to purchase an exclusive million dollar Pittsburgh apartment building for use as a women's dormitory.

The purchase could not be verified by Tech president, Robert E. Doherty, but he admitted it was under serious consideration and a "definite decision would be forthcoming"

It was expected to be two years before students would occupy the apartment, in event of its increase.

The 80-apartment building, when remodled into a dormitory, will provide facilities for almost 600 women. The purchase will include three nearby residence buildings.

BOY INJURED IN FALL FROM TREE

Howard Balck, aged 10 years, of R. D. 2 was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening for injuries received when he fell from a tree in the back yard of the Black home. He has a possible fracture of the ribs on the right side.

A Bible issued in 1717 was known as "The Vinegar Bible" due to the fact that the heading in Luke 20 was erroneously printed to read "The Parable of the Vinegar," instead of "Vineyard."

Through his unstinting efforts and devotion to duty, many of his wounded comrades who lay in dangerously exposed positions were rescued and evacuated to rear aid stations. His bravery and superior knowledge under fire resulted in the saving of many lives. Promoted to Corporal (Tech 5th grade). Mr. Bollinger also holds the Silver Star for gallantry in action, Purple Heart for wounds in action, ETO medal with 5 Battle Stars, Good Conduct Medal, Victory Medal, and V. F. W. ribbon. PLAYFUL CHICAGO BOYS FOUND USING GRENADE FOR 'BALL'

CHICAGO, May 23.—(INS)—John Suzuki, a restaurant operator, was afraid that a group of boys playing catch in the rear of his place of business might break a window. He ordered them away.

The boys complied, tossin their "ball" into a trash can as they left the neighborhood.

Suzuki investigated and quickly summoned police when he discovered the "ball" was a U. S. army hand grenade.

Sgt. Marshall Pidgeon of the bomb squad said the grenade was of the high explosive type which, if the pin had been pulled, not only would have broken all the restaurant windows but would have killed the boys.

The area of the Soviet Union is more than 8,700,000 sqaure miles, or nearly three times as large as continental U. S.

War Dead Will Be Brought Home From Many Lands

Quartermaster Corps To Return 360,000 Servicemen To American Graves

OPERATION MAY TAKE FIVE YEARS

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—(INS) The return to American shores of some 360,000 American servicemen—the final "march to glory" of the nation's World War II dead—is being planned by the army's quartermaster corps.

From the African wastelands to the European fields and then to the steaming jungle of the Pacific islands, the corps, under presidentially-signed legislation, will effect the return of those buried in temporary cemeteries.

Brig. Gen. Roland Walsh, commanding general of the Philadelphia quartermaster corps, said the entire operation may take five years—but the corps hopes to complete it in half that time.

Last April the office of the quartermaster general requested relatives to indicate their wishes concerning last disposition of remains. Several weeks will be required to classify the replies, Gen. Walsh said.

First Returns

The first returns will be made from American cemeteries where identification and verification of records already have been completed.

The quartermaster's plan, Gen. Walsh explained, is to bring the bodies home in certain ships outfitted in the manner of hospital ships. Return of the first remains will not necessarily await conversion of these ships, should such conversion be unduly delayed, he added.

Docks at New York and San Francisco will receive flag-draped caskets which will then be sent on to distribution points strategically situated throughout the country.

Final Burial

Final burial, Gen. Walsh said, will be in national cemeteries at no expense to relatives or in private ceremonies where the government will allow up to $50 burial fee.

Unidentified bodies will be buried in national cemeteries. In multiple casualties where individual identities cannot be determined, the remains will be buried under a universal tombstone.

Throughout the war, specially trained graves registrars traveled with the armies for the purpose of identifying those who gave their lives in battle.

Need Not Worry

Gen. Walsh declared next of kin should have no fear they are reclaiming bodies other than those of their loved ones.

Scientific means of identification have been used, he said. Chemical processes bring out laundry marks on clothing of the deceased; peculiar bone formations identify some dead, and even teeth formation can positively identify.

The sorrowful job has not been the first undertaken by the quartermaster corps. Two years after the close of the war between the states it recorded the last resting places of 316,233 soldiers.

Between the years 1899 and 1903 the corps repatriated the remains of 6,300 Spanish-American war dead.

Following World War I, through the years 1920 to 1921—relatives of 46,310 soldiers killed in action requested the remains be sent home. Some 40,000 other bodies were buried in American military cemeteries abroad.

Bread Shortages Are Predicted In Near Future

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—Government officials and bakers predicted that there will be critical shortages of bread throughout the country within the nex three weeks.

The predicion was made as the OPA prepared to order a "slight" increase in the price of white bread.

A Bakery Association spokesman said that current shortages of bread developing in the U. S. are "just the beginning". He predicted the situation would get increasingly worse unless the government took steps to provide more grain for American flour mills.

The bakery representative asserted the shortage of bread would reach its "Worst stage about the middle of June".

An Agriculture Department official said, however, that the government has planned no action to provide more grain to U. S. flour mills, which rapidly are closing down because of the shortage of wheat created by government purchases of grain for export.

Both the bakery representatives and government officials expressed fear that black market activities in bread would increase as the shortage develops.

OPA has alerted its investigators for the first time to watch for black market dealings in bread.

EAST SIDE YOUTH TO HAVE ROLE IN ATOMIC BOMB TEST

George W. Bevan, fireman, third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Bevan, Randolph street, is now stationed at Pearl Harbor, from where he will proceed to Bikini Atoll for the atomic bomb experiment in July. He is a member of the USS Arkansas, a battleship that may be demolished in the tests.

Sailor Bevan, a member of the senior high school class of 1945, has been in the Navy since shortly after receiving his diploma.

A man who believed he knew all about parrots undertook to teach a young parrot that supposedly had been able to talk to say "Hello" in one lesson. Going up to the cage he repeated that word in a clear voice for several minutes, the parrot paying not the least bit of attention. At the final "hello" the bird opened one eye, gazed at the man and snapped out:

"Line busy."

FIRE AT SHENANDOAH

SHENANDOAH, Pa., May 23.—(INS)—Damage was estimated at $225,000 today in the wake of a raging fire which razed the two-story Capitol Theater building and four adjoining stores and apartment houses in the business section of Shenandoah.

Scores of firefighters from twelve companies battled the blaze for more that three hours before halting the fire which routed 200 theater patrons and left 10 families homeless.

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—(INS)—Dow V. Walker, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, today planned to recommend to the Veterans Administration that they take over Deshon general hospital at Butler immediately.

Walker, attending the 16th annual convention of the Pennsylvania department of the DAV in Pittsburgh, inspected the hospital yesterday. He declared that Deshon was vitally needed to care for disabled vets of both wars in Western Pennsylvania.

Finding A New Sense Of Values

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

Zacchaeus in the sycomore.

"As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."—Luke 6:31

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 26 is Luke 12: 18:24-30; 19:1-10; I Timothy 6:17, the Memory Verse being Luke 6:31, "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise.")

In the twelfth chapter of Luke Jesus tries to show His disciples what the real and worthwhile things of life are. "Be not afraid of them that kill the body." He tells them, "but fear him, which after he hath killed hath powef to cast into hell." The person who has lived a good, charitable, helpful life need not fear to lose his life; only should he fear who has lived a sinful life devoted to material things, heedless of others.

"Are not five sparrows sold for two farthings, and not one of them is forgotten before God?

"But the very hairs of your head are numbered. Fear not therefore: ye are of more value than many sparrows."

Later He tells them the parable of the man who had acquired great riches so that his barns burst with the harvest. Without thinking of the poor whom he might help, he decided to pull down the too small barns and build larger ones. Then when his riches were safely stored, he would take his ease, "eat, drink and be merry."

But that night God said to him, "Thou fool (meaning a foolish person, one with small brains), 'this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided?"

Many people do as this man planned to do, think only of themselves and their own comfort, of making things easy for themselves; never of what they can do to help others in this suffering world.

Birds Neither Sow Nor Reap

"Life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment," said Jesus, and then called their attention to the birds who "neither sow nor reap; which neither have storehouse nor barns; and God feedeth them."

"And which of you with taking thought can add to his stature one cubit? If ye then be not able to do that thing which is least, why take ye thought for the rest?

"Consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not: and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." He calls upon His disciples to have faith that God will care for them, telling them to rather "seek ye the kingdom of God; and all these things shall be added unto you."

Again we have the story of the rich young man who wanted to do what was right and so save his soul; but when Jesus told him to sell his vast possessions and give to the poor, he went sadly away. Wealth and possession meant a very great deal to him—even more than his own soul—and he could not part from them. Jesus, looking after him, said: "How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God! For it is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God."

Wealth is not bad in itself, of course, but the rich must always remember that it is the least precious of their possessions. Money will not bring them love, nor character. If they have not this sense of what the real values of life are, they may waste their wealth and their lives, and happiness in its real sense may never be theirs.

Now living in Jericho was a man, a publican, the chief publican, and he was rich. When Jesus came to Jericho, a multitude followed Him, and this man, Zacchaeus, was very anxious to see Him, so, being a very short man, he climbed a sycamore tree so he could see over the heads of the crowd.

Jesus Calls To Zacchaeus

Jesus saw him, however, and called on him to come down, saying, "Zacchaeus, make haste and come down; for today I must abide at thy house." Overjoyed, Zacchaeus came down, and paying no attention to those around who muttered, "That He was gone to be guest with a man that is a sinner," he stood before Jesus, saying, 'Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken any thing from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold." He may not have been a good man, heretofore, but he promises hereafter he will make amends.

"And Jesus said unto him, This day is salvation come to this house, forasmuch as he also is a son of Abraham.

"For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Our last reference is from Paul's letter to Timothy, where he says:

"Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain rices, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy."

If we also obey the words of Jesus contained in our Memory Verse, "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise," we shall never need to fear either poverty nor riches, for we will be following the example of the Master when He was on earth.

CONVICTS WANT BEANS

SAN QUENTIN, Cal.—(INS)—There was a time when convicts at San Quentin state prison might have "griped" because of too many beans. Not so today, however. The convict-edited San Quentin News mourned the lack of beans and painfully reported beans will be served at the prison cafeteria only three times a week—"with judicious economizing" of present stocks on hand.

Preparations have been underway for some time, and the pupils have just finished the finishing touches on many of their projects.

The industrial arts exhibit will occupy a part of the gymnasium and will include woodwork projects and specimens of the work of members of the mechanical drawing classes. Despite shortages of lumber and other materials, his exhibit will compare favorably with other years.

Overflowing the art room into the second floor corridor, the art exhibit will include charcoal drawings, oil paintings, chip carving, textile stenciling, and modeling.

"European Relief" is the theme of the Home Economics exhibit which will center in the Home Economics rooms. Various projects and work of the students will be on display, and refreshments will be served to parents and school patrons.

TO PROBE DEATH

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—An autopsy was to be performed today on the body of Alan Nathaniel Steyne, 47, wealthy State Department foreign service careerist who died last night from what police said was a self-inflicted bullet wound.

Steyne, a member of the Stein-Bloch Rochester clothing firm family, was found shot above the heart Wednesday afternoon in the basement of the exclusive Metropolitan club.

CARNEGIE—When picked up by police, Charles Shields told them he had been "dreaming" of being jailed. He was hustled off to the local lockup where police found he was carrying a .45 calibre pistol, 50 bullets, a .32 calibre revolver and a Nazi swastika.

Former Publisher Dies In Plunge

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—(INS)—Authorities today probed the death of Alfred F. Sanford, 71, former publisher of the Knoxville, Tenn., Journal and Tribune, who plunged from the window of his ninth floor room in Philadelphia's Graduate hospital.

The victim had been a patient for more than two years. Doctors said he was undergoing radiation therapy for a throat disease.

Wanda Seegers, his nurse, said Sanford, a wealthy corporation director, seemed in good spirts after dinner last night. A few minutes later, attendants investigated a thud in the courtyard, and found his body.

Declares Politics Not Involved In Shipping Strike

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS)—President Joseph Curran of the CIO National Maritime Union said today that politics is not involved in the scheduled June 15 nationwide shipping strike.

He said the sole issue is the demand of the NMU and six other CIO and independent unions for a 30 per cent wage increase, an eight-hour day and better working conditions.

Curran said current strike plans do not include lake and river steamers or tankers, but he added that the walkout will affect West Coast longshoremen and radio operators and unlicensed personnel on ships operating from both the East and West coasts.

Four Amish Youths Given Small Fines

LANCASTER, Pa., May 23.—(INS)—Four Amish youths received small fines today on charges of disorderly conduct as state police and Lancaster county officials warned that juvenile delinquency would not be tolerated.

The youths were arrested May 21 after plainclothesmen witnessed a fantastic race around the village square at Intercourse by young men and women in 100 buggies.

The young Amishmen pleaded guilty to the charges at a hearing before Alderman J. Edward Wetzel of Lancaster, and each was fined $5 and costs.

They were Levis Biler and Omar Lapp of Gap Route 1, and Elam Riehl and Christian K. Fisher, both of Gordanville, R. D. 1.

A special five-power sub-committee was prepared to receive oral testimony from D. Jose Giral Y Pereira, prime minister of the Spanish Republican government-in-exile.

Giral was the committee's first witness. Further, he was delivering his testimony at the first public session of the council's inquiry committee.

'Smear' Campaign Against Iranian Ambassador To U.S.

LONDON, May 23.—(INS)—Dispitches from Tabriz reaching London today pointed to an Azerbaipanian "smear" campaign against Iranian ambassadors to the U. S. and Britain.

Radio Tabriz labelled Hussein Ala a 'capitalist servant' at the UN Security Council in New York, and charged that Sayed Hassen Taquizadeh, Tehran's ambassador to London, is trying to provoke a third world war through anti-Russian statements.

Ala and Taquizadeh were attacked immediately following the former's accusation before the UN that the Soviets had fomented an Azerbaijan revolt and trained separatist troops.

"Wim, Wigor and Witality" Are Signs Of A FEDERAL

When that extra ounce of performance is needed to get the job done, when something extra in the way of strength and durability mean the difference between success and failure, when you want that old "Wim, Wigor and Witality" in your truck, that's when Federals really prove themselves.

You'll never know how good a Federal is until you try one. And for trailers, it's Kingham.

New Yorkers To Welcome Fleet

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS)—The nation's "greatest liberty town"—New York—prepared today to roll out the welcome mat for the Navy's Eighth Fleet, which will start arriving tomorrow, to remain until June 3.

The parade of arrivals will continue Saturday and Sunday, concluding Monday with the anchoring of the aircraft carriers Franklin D. Roosevelt, Midway and Princeton, the battleship Missouri and several other famed warships including Atlantic Fleet Admiral Jonas H. Ingram's flagship, the communications ship Pocono.

Visitors will be permitted aboard many of the ships all next week.

Detain 232 After Raids On Danube

FRANKFURT, May 23.—(INS)—United States intelligence officers disclosed today that 232 persons, including an Hungarian ex-admiral, were being detained as a result of "operation grab-bag" on the Danube river.

G-2 officers said the mixed flotilla on the Danube has been cleaned up through the sudden action of American forces in taking over a previously-disorganized situation.

The Hungarian, Admiral Trunkwalter, was suspected of acting as chief of a huge smuggling ring based on the remnants of the Hungarian river navy, and was also believed implicated in the murders of three U. S. military government officers at Passau last January.

SCHOOLS GET PROJECTORS

ST. LOUIS.—(INS)—Film and sound projectors are as important to a schoolroom as blackboards, chalk—and the teacher, Professor Walter A. Wittich, of the University of Wisconsin, hinted at these facts in St. Louis when he recommended that every school be equipped with a dark room, a screen and a machine. The board of education had previously agreed with him, and now all St. Louis high schools and all but 12 elementary schools are so equipped.

Met Her Husband When He Visited Nazi Horror Camp

Because She Could Speak English Romance Started For Polish Internee

MALDEN, Mass., May 23.—(INS)—Romance came on the heels of her release from a Nazi concentration camp, the former Irene Gulder related today at the home of her husband, Stanley Myerow.

Her husband, then a corporal, was assigned to accompany a party of officers on a tour of inspection of a concentration camp at Frankfurt after the American forces swept into that city.

Mrs. Myerow arrived in Malden after months of waiting to join her husband.

The Malden soldier ran into difficulty in trying to understand some of the prisoners being interviewed, when one of the girl internees—Miss Gulder—gave assistance as an interpreter. She spoke English fluently and seven other languages as well.

She revealed that she, her parents and a sister had been brought to the Frankfurt camp from Poland for the express purpose of being executed, but several times the Germans postponed the executions, then the Americans came.

Wore WAC Uniforms

During their courtship, she said, WACs at Myerow's army headquarters enabled Miss Gulder to enjoy the company of her American suitor by lending her uniforms. Garbed as a WAC, she could leave the confines of the internment camp and stay out past the curfew hour.

They were married in Frankfurt last Oct. 22 and his discharge followed shortly after.

Irene arrived in New York Sunday with a joyous reunion with Stanley and now is rapidly learning the ways of her new home.

By coincidence, her family arrived the next day. Her parents are Henry and Regina Gulder, formerly of Lodz, Poland, with relatives in Ohio. They are visiting Myerow's family in Malden.

Elliott Brothers Steel company of New Castle purchased 227,650 pounds of strip steel for $7,967.75; Johnson Bronze company bought a turret lathe for $19,404.43; Arnold Satz bought a jolt squeeze molding machine for $666.62, and Bowman and company purchased a turret lathe for $9,040.11.

Precision Metal Products company of Ellwood City bought a used boning machine for $94.45. Sales during the period brought $2,037,805, with aircraft sales during the same two weeks adding $186,492.

The game of baccarat is said to be of Italian origin, and to have been introduced into France in the time of Charles VIII.

PULL OUT OR CUT WINTER CRESS WEEDS

Winter cress, a yellow-flowering which is conspicuous at this time in many fields, especially hay and winter grain fields, can be controlled only by pulling it out by the roots when the ground is soft, or by cutting it to check its growth or prevent seedings.

This weed, with shiny leaves resembling those of water cress, and sometimes mistakenly called mustard, grows and spreads rapidly. Unless pulled out when first noticed it soon gets out of hand. Some farms have been kept relatively free of the weed by pulling it out of the ground.

Setting the mower high enough to clip the cress without damaging the clover may be an effective way for controlling it in hay fields. This at least will set it back, and may enable the legume to get ahead of the cress, but cutting it will not kill it. Sprays cannot be used on winter cress in clover or alfalfa fields without serious danger of injury to the legumes.

Winter cress is a perennial, or winter annual. It grows from seed, but is seldom noticed until it shoots up its flower stems and blooms the second year. It may lie on year after year in such crops as timothy and alfalfa. It goes to seed so early that it is dead ripe when the hay or winter grain are cut.

Many of the seeds shatter out and may lie in the ground for years. Most of them go in with the hay or straw and go back to the fields with the manure to infest new areas. Winter cress stands originate from impurities in timothy seed, or perhaps alsike clover seed, also in purchased hay or straw.

World War One Soldier Is United With French Wife

Woman Finally Makes Way To America Again After 10 Years Under Nazis

COATESVILLE, Pa., May 23.—(INS)—A happy ending was written today to the story of a World War I soldier separated from his French war-bride and family for ten years because of a mental illness and the Nazi occupation of France.

Mrs. Georgina R. Kinnie, a Veterans Administration social worker, related the story of the veteran cared for at the VA hospital in Coatesville since 1935.

The patient's wife, a French bride of the last war had gone with their daughter and two sons on a visit to France in 1938, and were unable to return after the fall of that country.

The patient, Miss Kinnie said was much concerned about their safety until the hospital was able finally to communicate with them through the Red Cross.

Several months ago, the wife returned to America to re-establish their home, and the patient recovered sufficiently to leave the hospital.

One son, who returned with his mother, enlisted in the Navy. The two other children—now married and with children in France—are awaiting transportation to this country.

Miss Kinnie—as chief social worker at the Coatesville institution—keeps close touch with the 2300 patients and records a social-psychiatric history on each patient.

She says that more than 150 patients from the hospital are now at home on 30 or 90-day trial visits, and she expects that few of these will ever have to return to the hospital.

Flags To Drape War Dead Graves All Over World

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—(INS)—American flags shipped from the Philadelphia quartermaster depot will be placed on every recorded grave of the nation's war dead throughout the world on Memorial day.

In making that known Wednesday, Undersecretary of War Kenneth C. Royall, just home from an overseas tour, said he was impressed by the "care and beautification of American graves".

Declaring that graves still are being recovered in isolated areas, Royall said the quartermasters corps was rechecking the plot records of 956 temporary military cemeteries "to assure accuracy".

The bodies of all American servicemen who gave their lives in Germany have been reburied in France, Belgium and and Luxemburg, Royall asserted. He added:

"From my talks with troops, I gathered the distinct impression that men, when going into battle, often expressed the feeling that, should they be killed, they would prefer to be buried in lands they fought to liberate."

The so-called yellow race numbers seven-tenths of the population of Asia.

Squelch Rumors Of Radar Effects On Army Personnel

DENVER, May 23.—(INS)—A flood of rumors started during the war that "mysterious" radar waves caused bad dreams, baldness, introversion and sterility today were officially squelched.

Tests conducted by Capt. Meyer Berke, urological officer at Lowry Field, have confirmed previous experiments conducted by Army Air Force surgeons at Duke university with guinea pigs as the subjects.

Capt. Berke said sterility tests on enlisted men who handle and operate aircraft radar have produced only negative results.

Stories about ill effects of radar threatened to reach epidemic proportions at one time when both Army and Navy authorities were receiving complaints from wives and mothers of men assigned to radar work.

YELLOWS-RESISTANT CABBAGE VARIETIES URGED FOR GARDENERS

Yellows-resistant cabbage varieties, which include both the round and flat types, are the only safe protection from the "yellow disease". Cabbage plants of varieties which are susceptible to this disease, may appear well-grown and stocky when set in the garden, only to make a short growth, and then die after dropping their yellowing leaves.

Cabbage "yellows" is caused by a parasitic fungus which attacks the roots of the plants and grows in the stem. Once established, it persists in the soil for many years regardless of the crops grown. The only known remedy is use of disease-resistant varieties.

Resistant cabbage varieties include, among the round types, Resistant Golden Acre, Racine Market, Marion Market, and Wisconsin Ballhead. Wisconsin All Season is recommended in the flat varieties, although Wisconsin Hollander No. 8 is resistant at low soil temperatures, and about 70 per cent resistant at high soil temperatures.

Make every effort to prevent spreading of cabbage yellows fungus to non-infected soils. This infection can be carried in seedbeds, on tools, in refuse, and by plant handlers.

Cabbage plants should be set 15 to 18 inches apart in rows 2 to 3 feet apart. Keep cabbage beds free of weeds and the ground damp. Tar paper disks placed about the plants help protect them from maggot attacks.

In some instances of bell ringing, the bells are sounded by means of a cylinder, on the principle of a barrel organ; in others they are played with keys by a musician.

Recently Discharged Navy Commander To Be Director; Other Posts Filled

Harold Burry, former scout in the Lawrence County Council, and associated with the Boy Scout movement for a number of years, has been named director of the summer camp for this season, Thomas Allen, commissioner, announced today.

In 1943 Mr. Burry served as waterfront director at the camp, and in 1944 he went into the armed forces accepting a commission in the U. S. Navy. He was recently discharged as a commander. At present he is attending the camp leader's training course being conducted at Chillicothe, O.

Other Leaders Named

J. Arthur Turek, scoutmaster of Troop 9, and principal of Sunny Avenue school, will again give his services at the camp and will be in charge of the nature and handicrafts school, a position he has held for the past two years.

William Crowell, principal of the junior high school in Sharon, will again be the waterfront director at the site, he having served in that capacity last summer. Mr. Crowell has completed his training for this work through the health and safety service of the Boy Scouts, which every year sponsors an aquatic course.

Mrs. Susie Waid will be the camp cook this summer, assisted by Mrs. Lillian Summers.

Begin June 16

Scout camp will open this year on Sunday, June 16, and will continue for five weeks. A staff of junior leaders will be on hand to assist in the program at the camp. As yet they have not been selected from the application list, Mr. Allen said.

Two Deserters Of Two Years Found

LONDON, May 23.—(INS)—London newspapers reported today that two American GI's, who took to the woods two years ago, have been arrested and turned over to the United States officials as deserters.

They were identified as Privates Johnnie Caudill and Carl Luther. Caudill said he came from Kentucky and Luther described himself as a former resident of Tennessee.

The London press said they had grown beards, were dressed in rags and could be termed up-to-date versions of "Rip Van Winkle".

Registration For First Grade Is 514

Preliminary Enrollment Is About 90 Per Cent Of Total, Superintendent Believes

Five hundred and fourteen children were registered last week as a preliminary introduction to the schools which they will attend when they enter first grade next September, Superintendent of Schools Frank L. Burton said today.

According to the completed reports of the registration, the greatest number were enrolled at Oak street, with 63 reporting, and at Lincoln-Garfield, where 62 signed up. North street school had only 29 registering.

This total of 514 is expected to be at least 30 or 90 per cent of the first grade enrollment next fall, although the school administration cannot yet tell how many will be in the next class. Last year, 581 enrolled on the opening day.

Parents, also, expressed their appreciation of the new system, which allows them to get acquainted with the faculty of the school which their children are entering, and gives them an idea of the things that will be expected of the children.

There were 8,897,000 horses and 3,408,000 mules on U. S. farms Jan. 1, 1945.

I'm making plans for an ELECTRIC KITCHEN and the first item will be an ELECTRIC RANGE

The modern conception of homemaking doesn't consign one's life to drudgery. It plans for freedom—the organization and mechanizing of housekeeping tasks so that time is available to enjoy living . . . The electric range is the logical point to begin enjoying Electric Living.

See Your Electric Dealer

Get acquainted with your electric dealer. Let him tell you about the electric range. He will be glad to show you how easy it is to use—how the heat is confined to do the job without escape and waste (important to a cool summer kitchen). He'll show you how easy it is to keep clean and why it keeps your kitchen clean. You'll see the beauty that your kitchen can claim with an electric range. See your dealer now!

•CLEAN •COOL •EASY •SAFE

•DEPENDABLE •ECONOMICAL •ACCURATE •AUTOMATIC

All these features are taken for granted by electric range owners. They like its automatic features. The evening meal can be prepared in the morning, put in the oven, the controls set, and then the afternoon may be spent with friends or at a special hobby. Automatically, and at the proper time the heat "clicks" on. It maintains a predetermined temperature, then, at the set time it "snaps" off. That's the new freedom of an electric range.

Dodgers May Be Surprise Team Of 1946 Season

Cannot Count Dodgers Out In Pennant Fight

Brooklyn Hands Cubs Defeat In Roistering Extra-Inning Game As Cards Also Win

PHILLIES AGAIN DEFEAT PIRATES

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS)—Out of a wild, bleary-eyed day such as baseball probably hasn't produced in many a season, this thesis presented itself anew with increasing appeal today as something well forth further reflection:

Don't short-end the Dodgers!

The Dodgers might well be on the verge of one of those roistering campaigns such as they put forth with engaging gusto in 1941, when they beat practically these self-same Cardinals to the wire.

Weird Game Yesterday

They looked the part yesterday in every way, including some of 1941's more bellicose features, while winning a 2-1 brannigan with the champion Cubs in one of the more piquant numbers of ultra-dramatic days.

The Dodgers, in consequence, took a temporary half-game lead in the pennant race. But the Cards came out last night, blasted Ken Carpenter for five runs in the opening inning and won, going away, from the Giants, 7-1. They thus went back into an overnight stalemate for the league lead.

Red Sox Win

The Red Sox pulled another of their theatrical finishes in beating Cleveland, 7-4, in 12 innings. Williams' homer, his eighth of the year, came with one on in the 12th to put the definite kobosh on Reliefer Johnson and the Indians.

It was the Yankees' turn to spot the champion Tigers to a first-inning lead—on Greenberg's three-run homer—and then cause Detroit to blow its advantage for the second straight day. The Yanks came on to win, 5-3, through the medium of a five-hit uprising in the fifth.

Phils Beat Pirates

The Senators got knocked off by the Browns in one of those St. Louis nocturnes, 3-1. In the other league, however, the Braves moved into a third place tie with the Cubs by scoring a nightime decision, 4-1, over the Reds.

Almost deserving a special niche in the archives was the second straight for the Phillies, who beat the Pirates, 6-2.

MOTORCYCLES TO CLIMB STEEP HILL

Hill climb will be staged by motorcycle riders here Memorial day afternoon. The event will be staged on the Walmo-Lakewood road and will start at 2 o'clock. It is expected there will be numerous entries and thrills.

Spencers Lose To Forest A. C. And Tie Sons Of Italy For League Lead

Forest A. C. softball team halted the undefeated Spencers last night at Gaston park, winning 4 to 3 as Johnny Vargo hurled a swell three-nitter, and had eight strikeouts. Headland the losing hurler gave but four hits and but for two errors by his mates, might have won.

A homer by Sam Mooney and a triple by Greg Ross featured for the Forest A. C. team at bat. It was the third win for the Forest A. C. against one defeat, and the first defeat for the Spencers against three wins, and deadlocks the two teams for the loop lead.

Ellwood Elks Win Opener, 6-2

Ellwood City's Elks made their delayed entrance into the County league a successful one last night as they humbled the Edenburg Tigers, 6-2 at the latter's field.

It was a tight game all the way, with Ellwood having the advantage of a big first frame when they climbed on Conte Erickson for four tallies. However, nice relief work by Pete Chiero and manager Ed Leeper kept the Elk's bats quiet after that.

Tommy Beatrice hurled for the winners, and was stingy with hits, the Tigers only getting three off his offerings. Fine fielding helped the Elks chucker as he issued nine passes.

HERE AND THERE * * * * IN SPORTS' LAND

NOT so long ago a man whom we may refer to as "Mr. Anonymous" but one we strongly suspect of being a former localite but now a Clevelander, replied to a yarn submitted by Joe Aquara to Here & There regarding quartets, "Buzzers" and theatrical folk, known years ago in New Castle. Having read both articles Hugh Hannon, old-time minstrel, today submitted a communication as follows: On Thursday, May 2, I read in Here & There, a story from a former local resident concerning minstrel performers in and around New Castle. Having been a minstrel and entertainer for 44 years, I believe I know something about minstrels, both amateur and professional hereabouts. The beginning of amateur theatricals here was in 1860, when the father of Lew, Matt and Lawrence Diamond, a Shakespearan scholar, formed a dramatic club to produce Shakespearan plays. He sent to Pittsburgh for his leading man and lady and filled in with New Castle talent. The shows were the first amateur shows here. I suppose Matt, Lawrence and Lew inherited their talent from their father. Lew was first to go with a professional minstrel company. He joined Hi Henry's minstrels some time in 1880, was followed by Matt and Lawrence, and at one time, they were the best men in Al G. Fields' show.

Lawrence once told the writer that he was offered the tenor part in the original Thompson Old Homestead quartet and said he made the error of his life when he did not accept. Going to 1902, when the Imperial minstrels was formed recalls that, Ed Woods was the manager, Bill Scollins, musical director, and the writer, Scollins, Jack Holsinger and Adrian McKibben were the comedians. The show was built around a quartet composed of Scollins, Bert Sanford and Jack Griffith. We rehearsed in Jimmie Dimes' gym and played in the Opera House. John Thomas never sang with the Imperial minstrels, but we did feature Sam West in "Sing Me a Song of the South". Bill Scollins never was a dancer; he was a soloist. The writer done all the dancing, both soft shoe and buck for the Imperials. I picked up my soft shoe dancing off George Primrose and composed the steps myself. After the Imperial minstrels, almost every one gave minstrel shows. In 1906-1908, the Elks brought Clair McLaughlin from Pittsburgh to stage a minstrel for them. It was in 1908 that John Horner with Mike Graham put on the famous Wonder Horse act; the one he put on under the name of "Horner and Russell" (Sammie) while on the road. The following year his health became bad and the writer was asked to take his place. I was the only member of the case who was not a member of the Elks. You may consult The News files as to this.

A few years later the Keystone entertainers, with the writer, Al Buser, Paul Donnelly, Harry Elwell, George Elwell, Tommy Blake and Bob Dukes did the blackface. Bert Sanford, Rhys Williams, now in movies, Chester Biddle, Harry Wyman and Harry Masters did the solo work. Relative to the statement Coburn's minstrels played here I wish to say they did not. They played the southern circuit. Those which did play were Hi Henry, Al G. Fields, Lew Dockstader, Primrose & West, Honey Boy Evans, John Vogel and Gus Sun. The article to which I refer said Honey Boy Evans put Reese Prosser in satin. Al G. Fields feature dhim in a full dress in 1902, long before Evans had a show in his own name. There have been good quartets here. The first to put this city on the map was the Silver Bell quartet composed of Hughey Blaney, Harry Sheppard, Jack Urmson and Doc Beatty. Sheppard is yet one of the best finger banjo players hereabouts. As to amateur shows, St. Mary's boys and girls gave musical comedies with splendid talent from here. On March 17, 1907, "Fifty Miles From Pittsburgh" played with Happy Quinn, Tom Gilboy and his sistre, Mary; Steve Griffith, his brother Jack and sisters, Charlotte Griffith Ryan and Mary, the Winter boys, Harry and Charlie, Katherine O'Leary, Maher and others. This is a short history of the amateurs. If one cares to contradict it, the writer will gladly listen to the contradiction. With charity to all and enmity toward none, I remain.

(Signed) An Old Minstrel.

Pottery Golfers Enjoy Fine Round

Take Advantage Of Fine Weather Wednesday, Play At Castle Hills Course

Taking foull advantage of fine golf weather, a record number of 38 golfers put aside their potter's tools and came to grips in the third round of league competition at Castle Hills last night. The feature battle of the night involved the Havilands and Castletons, and the Havilands, captained by Chuck Ferry proved their class as they beat back the challenge of their strong opponents, winning 4-1.

Ferry shot a 41 to edge out Bud Long by two strokes and received fine support from John Soho, Masterson, and Witherow who also won their matches. Bob Gowell averted a shutout for his team.

Incas Lead League

In spite of the convincing win by the Havilands, they lost ground to the red hot Incas who whitewashed the Zeisels 5-0. Latimer, Sanders, Morgan, and the Kerr brothers coasted to easy wins on the back nine with Flick Kerr's 45 being low.

The Shepoco outfit climbed into third place tie as they walloped the Shenangos 4-1. Lawson, Ritchie, G. Burns, and Johns were the point-getters. Locked in a struggle to get out of the cellar position, the Chinas and Franklins split even with 2½ points each.

Clerici Wins For Hot Tops, 1-0

Bobby Clerici, of New Galilee, not only pitched a brilliant four-hit ball game last night against Hillsville but he rapped out a hit in the last inning to win his own game, 1-0.

Clerici came to bat with the sacks loaded and tapped his hit into the infield, sending his manager, Joe Guzzetti scurrying across with the clinchin tally.

Bob Penwell, Hillsville's bright young pitching star, did alright on the rubber, too, limiting the Hot Tops to five hits, matching the New Galilee hurler in he best mound duel of the league season.

New Castle Moose shaded Vernors by a 3½-2½ score in the other match played. Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company, drawing a bye last night.

Jim McCready, hard-luck twirler of the Vets, just didn't have it last night as he was bounced for 15 blows. However, the Ellwod chucker fanned nine men and cracked out three hits for his cause.

Legion Juniors Play Good Ball

Close Contests Mark Games Played In American Legion League Wednesday Evening

Several hotly contested games were played in the American Legion Junior league Wednesday evening, with the North Hill Cardinals, one of the strong entries in the league this year, nosing out Columbus club by a 4-3 score, while Wagner Panthers outscored the Lands by a 6-5 score. The Elks, last year's champs, ganged up on Nesbit for a 10-0 victory over the Independents, with Adams hurling a two-hitter for the Elks.

In addition to hurling a fine game, fanning 12, Adams contributed to his team's victory with three hits, one a triple, while Demaskon had a double included in his pair of hits, which accounted for half of the Elks' 10 runs. Errors also helped in the downfall of the Independents.

Lautenslager and Matarazzo squared off in a real pitchers' battle in the Cardinal-Columbus club game, Lautenslager limiting the Mahoningtown entry to three hits, all singles, while the Cards got six off Matarazzo, Black and Altman getting two apiece.

Shelar hit a homer in the first inning for the Panthers, but Lands came back with three and added another pair in the second and third but the Wagners kept pecking away at Kerr and put over the winning tally in the seventh. Both teams had a flock of errors.

Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Elks	.....202 400 2—	10	10	0
Independents	...000 000 0—	0	2	8

Batteries—Elks, Adams and Clavelli; Independents, Nesbitt and West.

Columbus Club	..012 000 0—	3	3	2
Cardinals	.....220 000 *—	4	5	7

Batteries—Columbus club, Matarazzo and Lombardo; Cardinals, Lautenslager and Bowers.

Wagners	.....201 002 1—	6	5	6
Lands	.....311 000 0—	5	5	4

Batteries—Wagners, Lipp, Carick and Cunningham; Lands, G. Kerr and Clarke.

Dixie Walker, the darling of the Dodgers, hasn't noticed a great deal of difference between war time and post-war pitching—"except possibly the control . . ." But Dixie never has had much trouble, before, during or after the war, when it comes to collecting base hits . . . its his lucrative hobby . . .

Yarosz And Evans Bout Is Arranged

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—(INS)—Tommy Yarosz of Monoca, Pa., a light heavyweight title contender, will make his first Pittsburgh ring appearance since his discharge from the armed forces, when he faces Reedy Evans of Chicago at the Zivic Arena, June 3.

The bout is scheduled for ten rounds. Matchmaker Joe Brusco also announced the signing of Henry Armstrong's ranking middleweight contender, Roy Miller of Kansas City, who will headline the weekly boxing show June 10 against Eddie Finazzo of Baltimore, Md.

Angelo Bertelli Signs With Boston

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS)—Angelo Bertelli, star quarterback at Notre Dame several years ago, has been signed to play with the Boston Yankees next fall, the National football league announced.

The announcement is expected to bring on a resumption of warfare between the National League and the rival all-American conference, with which Bertelli had previously signed as a member of the Los Angeles Dons.

"SEVEN LEAN YEARS"
Joseph, back in the Biblical times, stored up grain during the seven years of plenty so that they might have food in the seven lean years he knew would follow. Our present-day Economists possibly do not believe in these "old-fashioned" ideas. At least they do not practice them. Their theory is "waste and destroy". We have about had our seven fat years; lean years are sure to follow. Let's conserve our grains and foods. Joseph might be right!

Cardinal Griffin Leaves For Home

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS)—Bernard Cardinal Griffin, archbishop of Westminster, is on his way home to England today following his two-week visit to the U. S.

He left from LaGuardia field aboard an American Overseas Airline plane whose departure was delayed four hours by mechanical trouble.

REJECT APPEAL FOR "BLUEBEARD"

PARIS, May 23.—(INS)—Provisional President Felix Gouin today rejected the final appeal of Dr. Marcel Petiot, the modern version of the French "bluebeard".

The presidential denial for clemency foreshadowed an early date with the guillotine for Petiot, who was convicted of murdering 26 persons in his so-called "house of horrors".

Petiot, during his trial, claimed he had slain 63 persons but said all were Nazi collaborators.

STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS)—Stocks turned irregular and quiet in forenoon dealings today after a higher opening. Specialties, however, continued to enjoy good demand.

The rail strike, set for this afternoon, was the principal reason for the hesitancy.

Volume dwindled after a brief flurry at the opening.

National Distillers took the spotlight, running up 4 1-8 points to 88 1-2, a new high for the year. Macy was close behind, picking up 2 1-2 points more to a new high of 64 1-2. Other new high included Hiram Walker, up 2 1-2 to 137 1-2.

Rap Food Board For Failure To Ask Russian Aid

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—House Agriculture Committee members Wednesday assailed the combined food board for failing to ask Russia to help meet UNRRA grain requirements.

Chairman Flannagan (D) Va., presiding at a committee probe into the world grain situation, quoted Prime Minister Stalin as stating grain requests to Russia had come "too late," adding:

"We should have asked Russia for grain last year and not given them the chance to use that excuse."

Rep. Hope (R) Kan., commented that Russia would not have complied with any request because she was distributing her grain "for political purposes."

Dr. Dennis A. Fitzgerald, deputy members of the combined food board who testified before the committee, agreed with Flannagan that Russia should not have been given an "out" by the food board for withholding grain from the UNRRA pool.

Grandpappy Jenkins says a price ceiling is different in that it leaks upward.

Warns Towns To Be Prepared For Polio Outbreaks

Children's Bureau Head Says Dread Polio "Season" Will Be Here Soon

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—Dr. A. L. Van Horn of the Children's Bureau warned today that the infantile paralysis "season" is imminent and urged community organization to handle any eventuality.

The warning was coincidental with nation-wide regional anti-polio conferences between the United States public health service and the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation.

Van Horn said:

"No one knows when polio will strike or where, nor is it known how it can be effectively prevented . . .

"States and communities should know before polio strikes how they propose to deal with it."

Dr. Van Horn said that the majority of those suffering from infantile paralysis can be cured if the symptoms are recognized early and medical treatment initiated immediately.

Makes Suggestions

He made the following suggestions for community action:

1. Study hospital resources, equipment and personnel and plan for their expansion in the event that an epidemic should strike. Have both volunteer and professional personnel available for possible emergency call.

2. Distribute information about the symptoms of polio to every family in the community and explain that care is possible for even the poorest of families.

3. Rationalize baseless fears of adults that operate against the welfare of children. Publicize the fact that adults are relatively immune to the disease.

Dr. Van Horn explained, with regard to point three:

"Sometimes community fears tend to keep hospitals from admitting infantile paralysis victims, although it is well established that they can be safely admitted to hospitals and moreover they should be cared for in hospitals.

Proper Isolation

"Proper isolation precautions must be taken, of course, as in treating any other contagious disease."

Van Horn suggested that states mobilize pediatricians so that they can be called in to help non-specializing doctors to diagnose and treat cases in emergencies.

He also recommended state-wide surveys to establish the hospital facilities which can be called upon should polio strike hard at any state or community.

Van Horn added:

"Special training should be given to staff nurses wherever possible and nurse's aides and volunteers can be trained to handle infantile paralysis cases.

"Moreover, better programs for the after-care of polio victims can be developed with the benefit of state-wide planning. Physical therapy centers can be established, convalescent homes maintained and post-polio rehabilitation provided for with state aid."

President Gives Farmer-Hero New Hope In Problem

Truman Tells Ohio Hero Flood Project Won't Destroy His Farm For While Yet

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS)—Melvin Mayfield, 27-year-old Ohio farm boy and a Congressional Medal of Honor hero, is going to keep his medal and look for a new farm.

Mayfield talked with President Truman Wednesday morning about the threatened loss of his present farm which lies in the path of an Ohio valley flood conrtol project.

He said as he left the White House that he "feels better about the whole situation."

The tall ex-soldier was so disturbed when he learned that the eight-acre farm which he bought for $1,000 after his discharge was going to be flooded by the waters of a dam-site, that he decided he might give the government back his congressional medal.

But after his talk with the President today, Mayfield said Mr. Truman told him that the public interest sometimes was greater than that of an individual, so he would keep his medal and try to find another farm elsewhere.

Won't Touch Farm

Mayfield said the President declared that while the flood control project, part of a nation-wide flood control and conservation program, would have to go through eventually, that he would see to it that the little valley in which he hero's farm is located would not be touched any sooner than it had to be.

"That will give me a couple of years," Mayfield said.

Mayfield declared:

"I am going ahead and build a house on the farm and farm it as long as I can. Meanwhile, I'll look around for another farm.

"He told me about an instance that happened when he was county judge out in Missouri, and that some people were to be displaced by a highway project.

"He said he could have held the road-building program up, but that he had to make his decision on the basis of the public interest.

"I guess I'm a member of the public too."

Liner Washington Sailing Delayed

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS)—Eight hundred passengers were left stranded, at least temporarily, in overcrowded New York today by postponement of the sailing of the liner Washington.

The War Shipping Administration postponed the sailing after the crew unanimously refused to sign for the trip to Cobh and Southampton unless the United States Lines fires the second assistant purser, James H. Cronin for alleged anti-union assertions. The crew members belong to the National Maritime Union.

WSA officials said yesterday that unless the dispute is settled within 48 hours the sailing will be cancelled and the Washington sent to a repair yard for reconversion to private service.

Butte, Mont., came into being as a silver camp, but gained renown as "The Richest Hill on Earth" through production of copper.

NOTED ARTIST DIES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23—(INS)—The art world today mourned the death of Jules Pages, the celebrated San Francisco artist who became one of France's foremost painters.

The 79-year-old artist died suddenly of a heart attack yesterday on a downtown street.

He was one of the few Americans upon which the French government has conferred the title of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. At one time he was director of the Julian Academy in Paris.
